VINITA WON YESTERDAY.

A Close Score at Chanute— Four to Five.

The Vinita team won the third game with the Chanute club yesterday by a score of five to four, making two out of three. While many think they might have done much better, our boys have won, during their last trip, four of the nine games played—one of three at Coffeyville, the same at Parsons, making the teams stand four to two in Vinita's favor, and two of three at Chanute. With their record at home, which is remarkably good, Vinita can certainly lay just claim to having the best ball aggregation ever gotten together in the territory. The game yesterday was close—standing four to four in the eighth inning, when "Spider" went to bat with two men on bases, and by a long bit brought one in.

Vinita was shut out in the first three innings, while the Chanute boys scored one run in each. In the fourth Vinita scored two to the home team nothing. Our boys landed one run each in the fifth and sixth and shut out the home team. In the seventh nothing was made by either side. In the eighth Chanute got one run, tying the score—four to four. In the ninth inning "Spider" went to bat with Little and Selby on bases, and two men out, and made a two base hit, letting Little score—making the record show five to four in Vinita's favor. Meredith struck out the next three men and ended the game.

PARKS TOOK THE BLUFF.

In the first game at Chanute Charley Parks, who was catching, fell out with the umpire and a prolonged wrangle; lasting up to the sixth inning, took place. At this stage the umpire took Meredith into his confidence and the two agreed that Parks should be induced to "be good." In the seventh the catcher again "kicked" and the "common enemy" asked to whom he should look in case a fine was assessed, he was told Meredith was "treasure." Parks was informed that his next kick would cost something, and if repeated he would be "put out of the game." This bluff was enough and not another sound came from behind the bat. After some thinking and a little gulling by the boys Charley concluded that as their's was not a league game the umpire had no right to assess fines or "bar" players, and in yesterday's game, when he again filled the same position, his sole thought, aside from catching a tip top game, was to make life miserable for the man of judgement.

The man with the small pox is sitting along very well and will soon be well again. There are no new cases. The people do not seem to be alarmed in the least and fully as many people have been in town during the week as usual. The physicians anticipate trouble whatever in controlling the disease and not allowing it to spread.

My train brings some hungry hunter to Vinita. Governor Patton has plenty of callers on sultry days, and wears the old smile he wore through the uneventful campaign.

EX-VICE-PRESIDENT STEVENSON'S

Famous Marble Groups and Paintings to be Reproduced in the Arena.

Former Vice-President Adlai Stevenson is a devoted admirer of art. His pretty but modest home at Bloomington, Illinois, contains many artistic triumphs in paintings and antique Greek and Roman statuary, which have been reviewed by thousands of prominent and celebrated artists.

It was while on a visit to the ex-president's home that Mr. John E. Boyle, who at the time was the American representative of the great English Gaynell Company of statue artists, first conceived the idea of inducing his company to adopt for exclusive representation and reproduction the Stevenson collection of statuary and paintings.

Three years of unqualified success attested the wisdom of the policy. London, Berlin and Paris were delighted with the exhibition, receiving it with enthusiastic and tremendous audiences. No sooner had Mr. Boyle become identified with the Adam Forepaugh and Sell Brothers' circus, which will appear here Thursday, August 31, than he prevailed upon the English company to make an American appearance, and the tour so far has equalled, if not excelled, the remarkable European successes.

The delicate, chaste and charming exhibition of the Gaynell Company in reproducing the Stevenson works has been the subject of much praise by the eastern papers and the press of cities wherever given. The fac-similes of marble groupings and famous paintings and impersonations of favorite gods and goddesses of mythology by the eight lovely ladies of faultless form is everywhere said to be a fitting prelude to the lavish entertainment this year provided by the Forepaugh-Sells management.

Uncle Sam to Force Osages to Educate Their Children.

The annual payment of the Osage Indians at Pawhuska will take place September 5 to 12, and under a new ruling of the department, all the members of the tribe have been notified that payments will be withheld from all families all of whose children between the ages of 5 and 18 years are not in attendance at the government boarding schools or some other institution of learning.

William E. Curtis, the well known correspondent of the Chicago Record, after making a tour of Kansas, thus testifies to the good results of prohibition in that state. "Prohibition is not a dead letter nor a failure by any means, and I am told by almost everybody I ask that any proposition to repeal the law would be defeated by an overwhelming vote. Wherever there is a 'dry' town the police force is idle and the police courts sit but once a week. In the 'wet' towns it sits every morning and has plenty to do. A temperance argument of equal force can be found in the poor houses. In some of the 'dry' counties none is needed. In all the 'wet' counties they are found well filled."—Baptist Standard.

He Hoped Not.

The other day, when it was raining very hard four or five men were having a few glasses of beer in a village beerhouse, when one man said to the company:

"It's a drop of nice rain this. It should stir things up in the ground."

One curious old man, who was known to have been henpecked during his wife's lifetime, replied:

"By Jove, I hope not, I only buried th' wife yesterday!"—Spare Moments.

Street Undermined by Rats.

A very extraordinary occurrence happened the other day in Brussels. A milk woman with her cart drawn by two dogs was passing through a street in the center of the city when, of a sudden, the roadway opened, and the cart and dogs disappeared. Investigation showed that the roadway had been undermined by rats, which swarm in the neighborhood.—Independence Belge.

As a rule married women live longer than their husbands. This is especially true of widows.
